How to search for other characters

View the tips in the table below to see how to search for special characters

Character	Example
Spelling variations	Both British and American spelling variants are supported. A search for colour returns color , and vice versa
Greek letters and character equivalents	To search the Greek letter Ω , enter omega . This matches documents containing the word omega as well as the symbols Ω (uppercase omega) and ω (lowercase omega).
Subscript and superscript	Enter subscripted and superscripted characters on the same line as the other characters. To search for the chemical notation " H_2O ," enter H2O.
Accented characters	To search for the name Fürst , enter Fürst or Furst .
Non-alphanumeric characters	Characters such as bullets, arrows, daggers, and plus signs are ignored.

Use Boolean operators to combine multiple terms:

- Boolean operators currently supported include AND, OR, NOT, and the hyphen (or minus symbol)
- Boolean operators must be entered in all uppercase
- The hyphen (or minus symbol) is interpreted as the NOT operator

For example: `black -hole` will return results containing 'black', but exclude any instances where 'hole' appears with it.

- Boolean precedence is as follows:
 1. NOT
 2. AND
 3. OR
- Parentheses can be used when nesting clauses so the grouping is clear

For example: For `a OR b AND c`, enter `a OR (b AND c)`

- Quotation marks can be used to specify terms which must appear next to each other

For example: `("heart attack" OR "myocardial infarction") AND diabetes AND NOT cancer`

 - Journal Article: Strategic timetable scheduling for last trains in urban railway transit networks
 - Author: Kang L, Zhu X
 - Journal: Applied Mathematical Modelling, 2017 vol: 45 pp: 209-225
 - Abstract snippet: Well-designed timetables, with appropriate coordination between the last feeder trains and the last connecting trains so that passengers can enjoy "smooth" transfers, are desired by passengers and are a major service goal of metro corporations. This paper addresses the strategically last train scheduling problem in

The paper's main content includes:

- Outline: Highlights, Abstract, Keywords, 1. Introduction, 2. Modeling last train scheduling problem, 3. Algorithms and numerical experiments, 4. A real case study: beijing subway, 5. Conclusions, Acknowledgments, References.
- Figures (12): Several small thumbnail images representing different parts of the paper, including diagrams and mathematical models.
- Highlights:
 - Two practical optimization models for last trains are developed.
 - We design a new heuristic algorithm to solve the optimization models.

The screenshot displays the Mendeley Desktop interface. The main window shows a research article titled "of young athletes" by T. Golditz et al. The article text is partially highlighted in pink. A floating note box on the left, titled "增加备注" (Add Note), contains the following text: "Ankle stability proves to be a very important element to prevent spine injuries as it acts as a base to carry the body weight of individual. It also has a important function which is to improve posture of individual. Ankle injuries are often the most frustrating injury as compared to other joints because it is the most frequent used joint". On the right side, the "Notes" panel is open, showing a "GENERAL NOTES" section with the text: "Ankle stability vs other joints" and a note by Qinyong Woon: "Ankle stability proves to be a very important element to prevent spine injuries as it acts as a base to carry the body weight of individual. It also has a important function which is to improve posture of individual.
